

BRITISH WREST LITTLE MORE GROUND FROM TEUTONS, WHILE FRENCH CONTINUE TO PRESS ON

Haig's Gains are in the Region of Roye; French Harass the Huns Farther South; All Enemy Attacks Repulsed.

CASUALTIES IN THE ARMY DWINDLE TO 90

By Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The French launched an attack this morning on the southern part of the Picardy battle front and, according to reports shortly after noon, were making progress in the valley of the Oise.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—At 3:37 P. M.—The French have gained control of the entire massif of Lassigny on the southern end of the Picardy battle front according to advices this afternoon. This gives command of the towns of Lassigny and the valley of the Diveppe as well as the entire district to the north.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—British troops have gained additional ground north of Roye and on the north bank of the Somme, says the official statement from Field Marshal Haig today.

The Germans last night attacked the British positions in the Marris sector, Flanders. They were repulsed.

The Germans delivered a local attack near Fouguescourt, on the line between Roye and Chaulnes. It was repulsed.

AT GRIP WITH ENEMY.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, Aug. 13.—The French are now at grip with the Germans on the ground they entrenched from the autumn of 1913 to March 1917. The German trenches are still deep enough to afford the enemy the best opportunity he has had of clinging to ground from which he is to be evicted since he left his lines in the valley of the Avre.

It is necessary for the French to bring up their guns before the attack can be resumed. Consequently there has been a pause in the struggle throughout today.

Today the French were in touch with a continuous enemy line and our progress was opposed not by the usual fire but by regular barrages. The enemy's line of resistance, therefore, apparently has been reached. Nevertheless the French continued to advance at various points.

GERMANS QUITTING TRENCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—German troops are evacuating trenches in the river bed of the Oise, just west of Bailly, according to news received here early this afternoon.

DEVELOPMENTS UNIMPORTANT.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Last night was without important developments on the main battle front, according to today's war office announcement.

FOURTEEN KILLED, THREE DIED OF WOUNDS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The army casualty list today shows 14 killed in action, 14 died of wounds, 3 died of accidents and other causes, 1 wounded severely, and 10 wounded of undetermined degree, 19 missing in action, 1, total 90.

LOCAL WAR NEWS

HAVE SEEN MANY THINGS.

V. DEET RICHIE WRITES.

Writing to his mother Mrs. N. S. Ritchie of the West Side V. B. Ritchie, former member of the local police force now with the 110th Medical Detachment, tells of some experiences over there. In part he says: "We certainly have had a lot of experiences and seen lots of strange things and sights which we can never forget. You can bet these Americans will take good care of themselves and the world at large will know who is who. The Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. are big factors and no one should regret helping these organizations. I might tell you of aeroplane battles of heavy shell fire and the wonderful way of moving troops and all that but you can see everything in the daily papers even before we know of it. Just remember we are being well fed and taken care of and that from what we can see Germany does not have a chance.

In another letter he speaks of the 110th Detachment having been detailed for duty for a time in a big American hospital where the patients are prepared for a base hospital. "After what we have experienced the Germans can only be hated," he says. "But the American soldiers should be proud of the attention paid them. The French people cannot be too kind to us. They throw their houses open and some cried with joy when we came.

Speaking of mail, Bert says the boys get peevish when the mail is opened and there is none for them. They know however he said that it is a long and dangerous road from America to the front and that the chances are small for the letters from home to be destroyed. In closing he says: "Well I am trusting the Great Almighty and I feel better physically than I ever did."

COUNCIL DEMANDS TRAFFIC OFFICER OF THE WEST PENN

Congestion By Cars in Crawford Avenue Requires It, Think Solons.

SPEEDERS MAY SUFFER

Heavy Trucks, Which Destroy Streets, Come in for Attention, Also; Their Speed Responsible; Concrete Streets Are Urged by Doctor C. W. Utts.

Complaint that newly paved Race street is being used as a speedway, and that motorists are ignoring orders of the police department in regard to the use of cut-outs and other traffic regulations in coming last night led up to a declaration of Mayor Duggan that examples will be made of violators also the adoption of a resolution by council instructing the mayor to ask the West Penn Railway company to place a traffic officer in West Crawford avenue where the trolley cars pass.

Councilman V. B. Pryce reported on the speeding nuisance in Race street and other parts of town. He said drivers have been absolutely ignoring the police in regard to cut-outs.

There was considerable discussion concerning conditions at the trolley siding in West Crawford avenue. Councilman C. W. Utts objected to an automobile traffic being held up on both sides of the street while cars are being unloaded and loaded. He said there is no such rule in effect in other cities that one side of the street is kept open. He said on a recent night he and another citizen saw an automobile blockade of 35 minutes due to a trolley car having been parked near the waiting room. The car was there for an hour he said.

Councilman B. L. Berg suggested that if the railway company will not place a traffic officer on the scene and remedy conditions it should be required to move the passing siding to the West Side of the hill.

Damage to streets by heavy motor trucks came in for discussion. Councilman Berg declared that heavy machines passing over North Pittsburgh streets are ruining that thoroughfare. He said he saw bricks standing on and after a machine had passed. Councilman Pryce expressed the belief that it is the speed of the machines rather than the heavy loads that are responsible. Complaints are made that they move at an excessive rate.

It will be only a matter of time until it will be necessary to relay the city streets declared Mr. Berg commenting on the destructive work of the trucks.

In discussing repairs to streets Councilman Utts made the proposal that instead of temporary work the city should make the job permanent and said there is no better way than by the use of concrete. He proposed that concrete be used to replace the brick in Crawford avenue, West Side. By taking the street section by section, he said, it would be possible to have a permanent thoroughfare in time. No action was taken.

Nothing was done with the bids for Chestnut street and Davidson avenue opened at the previous meeting but not tabulated.

Bids for chemical fire hose were held over until the next meeting. Purchasing Agent R. W. Hoover had left one of the bids at home because of the absence of this one none was opened.

The News Publishing company was awarded the contract for printing eight voucher books its bid being $30.

Mrs. Carrie Noonan and Miss Kate Shiller whose homes are at the foot of Peach street at Prospect street, appeared before council to complain of the damage wrought to their properties by the flood of Saturday evening. Basement kitchens were rendered uninhabitable and walks and fences were destroyed by the rush of water. Superintendent Berg of the street department was instructed to see what relief can be given. Some means of diverting a part of the water that comes down Peach street was discussed. It may be sent out Cottage avenue to Fayette street.

Council will meet again on August 26.

Lemonade Banned.

A request that lemonade be eliminated from picnic menus was made last evening by the United States food administration through Charles L. Davidson food administrator for Fayette county. ## TWENTY-EIGHTH DIVISION IS THE "IRON DIVISION" FRENCH RECHRISTEN BOYS.

Pennsylvania soldiers fighting in France have answered Shakespeare's immortal query "What's in a name?" And here is how it has been done.

The Pennsylvanians in the National Guard division went to Camp Hancock in the TWENTY-EIGHTH DIVISION.

While there these soldiers christened themselves in honor of their state the KEYSTONE DIVISION.

After the great drive that sent the Germans staggering into a rout the French soldiers who fought with our lads during the terrific fighting, called them the IRON DIVISION.

EACH DAY BRINGS TALES OF HEROISM OF BOYS IN BATTLE

Member of 110th Machine Gun Company Writes of Brilliant Defense of Marne.

Every day is bringing to one or more of the towns having companies in the 110th Regiment more detailed particulars of the engagement in which the first battalion took part in the Marne campaign on July 15 and 16. The more that becomes known of the battle the greater is the credit due the boys for their magnificent behavior under their first terrific baptism of fire. As one officer stated, "What the first battalion did is enough to give the whole regiment imperishable glory."

First Lieut. J. W. Day of the 110th Machine Gun Company writing from On the Battle Line in France, to his brother under date of July 13 says:

Just a line to let you know I am all right. The Hun started a big drive July 15 at 2 a. m. and we were in the show. They crossed the Marne and started strong. Our men and the French gave them an awful scrap and have held them since and are still fighting.

We have been under heavy shell fire for five days. Never saw anything like it. They almost blew this end of France away but we gave them back about the same.

The spirit of our regiment and company is wonderful.

I am about all in for sleep as I have been up almost every night. We have had plenty of rain along with the shells.

Suppose you saw in the paper the losses we suffered. We had seven men killed in our company the first morning.

Lieutenant Day is a member of the Washington county bar being a member of the legal firm of McIlwain, Murphy Day and Witherspoon.

Corporal Harold Wickerham of Company A son of Sheriff Wickerham of Washington county a former Washington & Jefferson student and reporter sends this interesting bit of information concerning the second day of engagement.

After lying patiently for three days in the fields upon short rations the word came that a fresh attack was set for Tuesday afternoon. At 10 minutes after 2 o'clock the French and American heavy artillery laid down a terrific destructive fire upon the German positions, which lasted until 2:30, when the American infantry in three waves rose from their shallow trenches and began to advance under the protection of a rolling barrage from the light artillery which was lifted every two minutes and advanced 50 yards.

Beyond Roncheres is a patch of woods which the Germans held and which was our first objective. Our advancing line started from a point 400 yards east of Roncheres on a width of more than half a mile.

No sooner did the first infantry line reach the woods than a battery of trench mortars under Lieutenant Eric Heard of Rochester N. Y. opened and kept the Germans in their dugouts until Major Joseph H. Thompson, of Beaver Falls got word to the machine gunners under Captain J. D. Boyle, to take up a sweep of the forward area. Then the infantry plunged into the woods and after quick fighting took 100 prisoners.

U. S. HOSPITAL AT MARKLETON ONE OF FIVE IN OPERATION

Where Disabled Soldiers Are Reconstructed and Taught New Trades.

RESULTS HAVE BEEN FINE

A Large Percentage of Cases Able to Return to Their Old Employment; Others Learn New Means of Gaining a Livelihood; Disability No Bar.

The treatment being given at the United States General Hospital No. 17 at Markleton to soldiers wounded and sent back from France to his country or those wounded or who have become ill in this country, throws an interesting light upon the character of the work to be done in the reconstruction and re-education of our disabled soldiers.

Five of these hospitals are already in operation. Including the Markleton hospital 537 cases have been treated. Of this number 151 are now able to return to full duty, 212 to partial duty, and but 39 will be unable to return to their old occupations. A total of 125 will be able to return to their old employment and do efficient work despite their injuries.

All these men as soon as they were able to receive instruction in these reconstruction hospitals were placed in vocational schools and shops for mental and vocational training and with fine results.

Other such reconstruction hospitals are to be established in various parts of the country as soon as they are needed.

From the time these men are landed in the United States an effort is made to keep their minds and hands occupied. Curative education has been practiced with satisfactory results. The men have shown interest in the ward occupations which consist of wood carving, knitting, weaving, block printing, bookwork, knotted work, embroidery, educational work and typewriting. Where facilities have been provided to give the men academic studies a genuine interest has been shown to improve their mental condition so as better to prepare them to make progress in civil occupations.

After the men reached the point where they could have the wards, they were instructed in shops and schools. Quartermaster repair shops are located near some of the hospitals and these are used to give instruction to the men in mechanical occupations. At the present time 132 soldiers are taking courses in auto mechanics and repair work. Shoemaking and typewriting have attracted the attention of 151.

Other popular trades and the number of patients receiving instruction in them are as follows: Drafting, 53; business 10; agricultural gardening and other work of similar nature, 235; telegraphy, 31; carpentry and bench work 32; telephone 41; furniture repairing, 16; painting 11, electrical, five.

A few men are taking courses in each of the following subjects: Blacksmith, concrete working, bricklaying, plumbing, commercial law, printing, sign repairing, wood working, sign painting, cabinet work, cartooning, drawing, ring making, book-binding and willow work.

Miss Athey's program was one of exceptional merit, comprising strictly high-class numbers. Her rendition of them captivated the audience which comfortably filled the large auditorium. Miss Mary McConnell and Mr. John Davis, the vocal soloists of the evening, were received with the same cordiality these popular singers always are by Conneltsville audiences.

Miss Athey was highly pleased at the reception given her and expressed unbounded admiration for the instrument she used. "It is the best and loveliest organ I ever played," she said at the conclusion of the recital. She was equally impressed with the beauty and fine acoustical properties of the church auditorium.

Rev. Ellis E. Burgess introduced Miss Athey and made a splendid and stirring appeal to the audience to make a liberal offering. This amounted to $80.75.

Miss Mabel Spearlingen, daughter of Jacob Spearlingen of Dunbar, and J. Donald Combs of Uniontown, were quietly married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Rev. and Mrs. James D. ## Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

It is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "threescore years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over. I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently dodging back a quarter of a century, when I remember the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers, which was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was preparing my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and because convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and used the wisdom of the heart, which was due to the fact that they were not potent enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestine, while others would act only on the lower or large intestine, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the resulting action would be mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Dr. Lewis' Remedy, which I truly believe goes further

CASH H. MORROW.

Cash H. Morrow, 27 years old, of Banning died Saturday morning at Mercy hospital, Pittsburg, following an operation four hours previous, never regaining consciousness. He had lived at Banning practically all his life and was always held in high esteem by all who knew him. He leaves the following relatives: His wife, Ennie Morrow, two children, Cora Belle and Ruby Alberta; his mother, Mrs. Mary Morrow of Canton, Ohio; one sister, Mrs. H. Clyde Byers of Canton, Ohio; two brothers, Wade of Perryopolis and Ralph C. of Canton, Ohio, besides his grandfather, Jeremiah Morrow of near Smithton, aged 86 years and a veteran of the civil war.

IMPRESSED BY MOTORTRUCK

Farmers Could Not Help but See Value of Machines as They Carried Immense Loads.

Farmers in nearly all parts of the United States have had impressed upon them the value of the motor-truck for farm work. The railroad congestion and the shortage of railroad equipment made it particularly necessary during the past five or six months to send new trucks overland from the factories and to handle large quantities of freight, such as ordinarily would have been handled by the railroads, by using motortrucks. These conditions took the trucks out into the farming districts in greater numbers and with greater frequency than ever before. Farmers have then hauling immense loads on the paved roads and on the ordinary roads of the country and could not help being impressed.

GLORIOUS.

Miss Sweet—It must be glorious to be able to write as you do.

Novelist—Yes; I have got so that I can tip back in my chair, with my feet on the desk, and dictate by the hour.

Learns French Quickly.

An American who wrote home a description of his journey into the interior of France, relates his experience in trying to crowd himself into one of the French "eight horses and 40 men."

"These cars were loaded to the guards with Frenches bound for somewhere."

"Howdy," I says.

"Go to hell," remarked one of them who'd learned to speak English from the United States marines, but I knew he meant to be polite because he offered me a match and matches are just the same as ready money over there.

"So I says, 'Au revoir, old timer,' and when they seen I was right there with their lingo, they grunted back and made room for me."

At the Theatres

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"THE HELL-HOUND OF ALASKA"—Featuring William S. Hart, will be shown again today. Tomorrow, Ann Little, an actress of unusual ability and charm, is the vis-a-vis to Wallace Reid in his latest Paramount photoplay, "Believe Me, Xantippe," which is to be presented at the Orpheum theatre tomorrow. In the role of a sheriff's daughter, Miss Little's talents are admirably displayed. She is a charming, courageous, quick-witted girl.

ARCADE THEATRE.

Orth and Coleman's Majestic Merry-makers, which opened to a capacity audience Monday went over immensely. Too much good cannot be said about this show and judging from the manner in which these artists performed throughout the matinee is an indication that they will fulfill all good reports previously heard of them. The singing and dancing numbers were very well rendered and on numerous occasions responded to encores.

THE PARAMOUNT.

SOCIAL QUICKSANDS—A five-part Metro photoplay with Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in the leading roles, is being presented today. The two well-known screen stars have a clever romantic comedy in "Social Quicksands," in which the love story predominates. Miss Bayne makes a wager that she can enmesh in her clutches a certain man who has repeatedly overlooked the fact of her existence, but as often happens, she ends by becoming the victim and a willing one at that. The country scenes are very beautiful showing glimpses of woodland and stream, and the photography is excellent. A selected comedy is included. Tomorrow, "Winner Takes All," a five-part Bluebird attraction will be shown, and on Thursday June Elvidge and John Bowers will be starred in "Joan of the Woods," a World feature of unusual interest. Theda Bara, the popular screen star, will be presented Friday and Saturday in "The Soul of Buddo."

Confluence.

CONFLUENCE, Aug. 12.—Miss Jo-mima Napier, saleslady in A. G. Black's Sons' company store, has returned from a three weeks' visit with friends in Holtsopple and Phillipsburg. Mrs. Grant Pyle has returned from a several weeks' visit with friends at Irwin and Braddock. Harvey Umbel, who works at Dunbar, is visiting his family here at present. Mrs. G. C. Michaels still continues to improve from her recent severe injuries caused by falling down cellar steps. Mr. and Mrs. J. Crouse have returned to their home in Connellsville.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Aug. 13.—A call has been issued for more white drafts for a five-day period beginning August 26. With the next lot sent away a new system will be put into effect; that of calling the men for the day before they leave for the training camp, checking off their band with the letters U. S. N. A. printed on and these bands will be placed on the left arm. The man who has charge of the men leaving for the National Army camp will be sworn in

WEST VIRGINIA STATE FAIR WILL BEGIN ON LABOR DAY, SEPT. 2.

Big Event Which Attracts Many People
From Fayette County Will be Held at Ussal.

Harry Umzer Tibbens of Wheeling,
W. Va., a former member of The Courier staff, writes that the fair will have no effect on the great West Virginia State fair to be held in Wheeling the week of September 2.

As many Fayette county people are interested in high-class racing, and the attractions which go to make up a big state fair, Mr. Tibbens writes The Courier that the management of the fair has hung up almost $10,000 in cash prizes for the light harness and running events which will be a feature of the sport of kings on the famous half-mile track at Wheeling.

"The fair will open on Labor day," said Mr. Tibbens, "that day being known as Derby day for the reason that all the speed events will be running."

QUICK RELIEF FOR ECZEMA

San Cura Ointment is a Marvelous Remedy for Many Other Distressing Affections.

San Cura Ointment has cured many cases of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It has drawn the poison from and completely healed ranning sores and fever sores which were so old and chronic that everyone who saw them considered them hopeless.

San Cura Ointment is guaranteed by Lashley Drug Co., Connelville, and the Broadway Drug Co., Scottsdale, to do as stated above and also to banish tetter, salt, rheum, boils, carbuncles, to heal ulcers, cuts, burns, scalds and bruises, or money back.

The same guarantee holds good for eczema, chapped hands and face, so you risk not a penny when you buy a jar for 20c, 50c or $1.00.

For tender skin and to secure a perfect complexion use San Cura Soap.

ing races, five of them being on the card for the opener. On other days there will be two running races, as well as three and four trotting and padding events, ranging from the 2.10 pace to the 2.25 trot, with a free-for-all on Thursday of fair week. The purses for each of the harness events will be $515 and $200 and $300 for the running races. Purses have been increased this year to permit the sixth horse to share in the winnings, thus insuring a greater number of horses in each heat of each race and increasing the uncertainty and excitement of the contests.

"Besides the speed events, which have always been a feature of the Wheeling fair, the usual agricultural, horticultural and live stock exhibits
will be seen, with band concerts, shows and entertainments of various kinds as additional attractions, making this the greatest fair ever held in Wheeling in the 38 years of this annual event."

Mr. Tibbens asks all friends who attend the Wheeling fair to look him up at Stone & Thomas' big department store, where he has been advertising manager for more than a dozen years and where he will be glad to welcome all folks from back in old Connellsville.

GOES FAR BACK IN HISTORY

French City of Montdidier Was of Importance in First Millennium of the Christian Era.

The National Geographic society is issuing the following war geography but-letin on Montdidier, a few miles east of Amiens:

"This little town, whose history dates back to the first millennium of the Christian era, had a population of less than 5,000 at the beginning of the war, but it was rich in historic associations. It is said to have derived its name from the fact that Didier or Desiderius, the last of the Lombard kings, was imprisoned here in 774 by Charlemagne. It will be remembered that Charlemagne, having put aside his first wife, Desiderius'
daughter, took up the quarrel of Pope Adrian I with the Lombard monarch, and after marching an army across the Alps, captured the erstwhile father-in-law's capital city, Milan, and took the vanquished ruler back to France, where he died in captivity.

"Montdidier is attractively situated on an eminence on the banks of the river Don. It is the capital of an ar-rondissement in the department of the Somme, and is 62 miles north of Paris by rail, and 23 miles southeast of Amiens. Its chief industries before the war were tanneries and the manufacture of zinc-white.

"When the tides of war finally receded it is probable that the three buildings in which the citizens of Montdidier took the greatest pride will be crumbling ruins. These are the church of St. Pierre, which was built before Columbus set sail on his voyage of discovery, and which contains a tomb and font of the eleventh century; the church of St. Sepulchre, a fifteenth century edifice, and the Palais de Justice, formerly the city castle. In the last named building visitors before the war were shown six unusually handsome Brussels tapestries of the sevteenth century. These were undoubtedly removed before the Germans entered the city.

"Montdidier's most famous son was Permonier, the scientist, who gave impetus to the culture of the potato in France. A statue erected here commemorates his gift to the nation.

"For a number of years this little city was governed by its own lords, then passed under the dominion of the counts of Crepy and Valois. In the twelfth century it became a possession of the French crown and received a charter of liberties. In 1636 it offered a gallant and successful resistance to the Spanish invaders."

All France at War.

"If you want to see a whole nation
in arms, go to France," says a hearty,
good-looking United States soldier boy just back from the war front, and now in a hospital. "It's not just in the cities. It's in the little country towns. I've seen old women at work in the fields, women so feeble that they had to walk with a cane when they weren't working. I've seen an old French mother wheeling fertilizer up to the top of the hill. She had to do the work because her men folks were in the trenches. After every trip up the hill she came tottering down, and you might have thought she couldn't wheel another load. She did, though. I tell you, the spirit of those French people is the wonder of this war."

Where He Stopped.

"Mr. Ellington speaks four or five languages," remarked Miss Cayenne.

"Valuable accomplishment."

"It would be if he could think up something worth saying in any one of them."

CHIEF WINTER SPRY AS BOY

Sea Tells of Remarkable Change that Overcame Fire Fighter.

"The other day I caught father running a race with one of his grandsons," said J. Kenneth Winter, the well-known druggist of Hughesville, near Williamsport, regarding the great improvement in the health of his father, James S. Winter, of Second street, Hughesville, chief of the Hughesville Fire Department.

"His stomach had been troubling him for sometime. He had no appetite and could not digest his food.
His heart seemed to be weak and he could hardly get his breath. He could only walk a block or two and would then stop and rest. He was very weak and run down generally.
His kidneys, too, were troubling him
quite a bit.

"I saw Tanlac advertised in the newspapers, but I did not believe it would help him, but he finally decided to try it. It proved of great benefit to him. His stomach is in good order again and he can eat whatever he pleases. He isn't troubled with shortness of breath and can get around and perform his work as usual.

"Tanalac has helped my father a good deal, and we are all very much pleased about what it has done for him."

Tanalac is sold here by the Connelsville Drug Co.

Tanalac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Benson's drug store.—Adv.

OLD TIRES QUITE VALUABLE

Possible to Get Ten Blow-Out Patches
From Worn-Out Casing—How They Are Made.

The average owner has formed the habit of disposing of old tires for a few cents and is not aware of the fact that the casing can be utilized for making blow-out patches for the inside of casing. These home-made patches serve even better than the cheap ones sold at supply stores. The patch is made simply by ripping off the tread and one or two layers of fabric. The thickness of the patch should be equal to about two or three layers of fabric, and of course cut to the right length. It is possible to get ten blow-out patches from a worn-out casing which probably would bring a dollar or so from the junkman.

LIGHT WHERE IT IS WANTED

Dirigible Device So Constructed That Rays Can Be Thrown Downward
or to Either Side.

A "dirigible" headlight, constructed so that the rays can be thrown downward or to either side of the road, is offered by a New York manufacturer.
A variety of uses is suggested, including those of keeping glare out of the eyes of an approaching driver and Dirigible Headlight.

lighting the side of the road, close by,
when driving through fog. Any headlight, it is claimed, can be attached to the appliance, permitting the lights to be thrown from 800 feet ahead to 12 feet in front of the car. A simple control is placed at the driver's hand, the control rod being carried either through the dash or to the side of the windshield.

RAILROAD MAN GIVES GOOD ADVICE

"Several years ago I was under treatment of a stomach specialist for 5 months, 3 weeks of which were spent in a hospital. Another stomach specialist told me I had gall stones and that an operation was necessary.
I did not want to have this. I lost 45 pounds in weight. Talking with a brakeman one day he told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and since taking it I have gained 16 pounds and am feeling fine. I am advising others to try it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and

Carolyn of the Corners

By RUTH BELMORE ENDICOTT

(Copyright, 1918, by Ruth, Endicott & Company, Inc.)

"Come on, Prince! Come on, good dog! Here, sir!"

Prince could not bark his reply with the rope in his jaws, but he sprang into the water and swam steadily toward Chet.

He stooped and seized the dog's forelegs when he came near and helped him scramble out on the ice. The end of the rope was safely in his grasp again.

"My goodness! My goodness! I could sing a halloo!" declared Chet, his eyes streaming now. "Hold on, now, Carolyn May! I'm going to drag you across. You hang right on to that sled."

"Oh, I'll cling to it, Chet," declared the little girl. "And do take me off

He Turned a Bright Face on Her as He Struck Out for the Edge of the Other Ice Floe.

this ice, quick, for I think it's floating out with me."

Chet drew on the rope, the sled moved forward and plunged, with just a little splash, into the pool.

In a few seconds he had "snaked" the sled to the edge of the ice floe on which he stood. He picked the sobbing Carolyn May off the sled and then lifted that up too. The little girl was wet below her waist.

"Tim—Tim just as cold as I—I can be," she chattered. "Oh, Chet! take me home, please!"

"Tim—going to," chattered the lad in return.

He dragged off his coat now, wrung it as dry as he could and wrapped it around Carolyn May's legs before he seated her on the sled again. Then he seized the rope once more and started toward the sound of the chapel bell.

Prince began to bark. He could not move forward much faster than Chet did, but he faced the wind and began to bark with persistence.

"There—there's something over there, Chet," murmured Carolyn May. She was all but breathless herself.

Then, through the wind and storm, came a faint bell. Prince eagerly pursued his barking. Chet tried to reply to the bell, but his voice was only a hoarse croak.

"We've got to keep on—we've got to keep on," muttered the lad, dragging the sled slowly.

The dog had disappeared. Carolyn May was weeping frankly. Chet Gormley was pushing slowly through the storm, staggering at each step, scarcely aware in what direction he was heading.

CHAPTER XIV.

How to Write a Sermon.

Joseph Stagg heard the dog bark first of all.

The men with Mr. Stagg having spread out on the ice like a skirmishing party, now closed in toward the point from which sounded the dog's barking. The hardware dealer shouted as he ran. He was the most reckless of them all and on several occasions came near falling.

Suddenly an object appeared in the smother of falling snow. Hoarsely the dog barked again. Mr. Stagg shouted: "Hey, Prince! Prince! Here we are!"

The mongrel made for the hardware merchant and almost knocked him over. He was mad with joy.

"Show 'em to us, good dog!" cried Uncle Joe. "Take us to 'em! Where's Hannah's Carolyn? Show us, boy!"

Prince hopped Mr. Stagg's face and then ran off through the falling snow, barking and leaping. The men hurried after him. Twice or thrice the dog was back to make sure that he followed. Then the men saw something outlined in the driving snow. "Uncle Joe! Uncle Joe!"

The child's shrill voice reached the hardware merchant. There was poor Chet, staggering on, leaning against the wind, and pulling the sled behind him.

"Well, you silly chump!" growled Joseph Stagg. "Where're you going, anyway?"

"Oh, Uncle Joe!" wailed Carolyn May. "He isn't anything like that at all! He's just the bravest boy; and he's all wet and cold."

At the conclusion of this declaration poor Chet fell to his knees and then slipped quietly forward on his face.

"I run!" growled the hardware dealer. "I guess the boy is all in."

But Chet did not lose consciousness.

He raised a faint murmur which reached Mr. Stagg's ears.

"I—I did the best I could, Mr. Stagg. Take—take her right up to mother. She'll fix Carolyn up, all right."

"Say, kid!" exclaimed the cook. "I guess you need a bit of fixin' up yourself. Why, see here, boys, this chap's been in the water and his clothes is froze stiff!"

"Pick him up and put him on the sled here, boys," Mr. Stagg said. "I'll carry Hannah's Carolyn myself."

The party, including the excited Prince, got back to the docks without losing any time and without further accident. Still the chapel bell was ringing and somebody said:

"We'd have been up a stump for knowing the direction if it hadn't been for that bell."

"Me, too," muttered Chet Gormley. "That's what kept me goin', folks—the chapel bell. It just seemed to be callin' me home."

Joseph Stagg carried his niece up to Mrs. Gormley's little house, while one of the men helped Chet along to the same destination. The seamstress met them at the door, wildly excited. "And what do you think?" she cried.

"They took Mandy Parlow home in Tim's hack. She was just done up, they tell me, pullin' that chapel bell. Did you ever hear of such a silly critter—just because she couldn't find the sexton?"

"Hunt you and I both seem to be mistaken about what constitutes silliness," Mrs. Gormley, grumbled the hardware dealer. "I was for calling your Chet silly, till I learned what he'd done. And you'd better not call Miss Mandy silly. The sound of the chapel bell gave us all our bearings. Both of 'em, Chet and Miss Mandy, did their best."

Carolyn May was taken home in Tim's hack, too. To her surprise, Tim was ordered to stop at the Parlow house and go in to ask how Miss Amanda was.

By this time the story of her pulling of the chapel bell rope was all over Sunrise Cove and the back driver was naturally as curious as anybody. So he willingly went into the Parlow cottage, bringing back word that she was resting comfortably. Doctor Nugent having just left her.

"An' she's one brave gal," declared Tim. "Pitcher of George Washington! pullin' that bell rope ain't no baby's job."

Carolyn May did not altogether understand what Miss Amanda had done, but she was greatly pleased that Uncle Joe had so plainly displayed his interest in the carpenter's daughter.

The next morning Carolyn May seemed to be in good condition. Indeed, she was the only individual vitally interested in the adventure, who did not pay for the exposure. Even Prince had barked his legs being heated out on the ice. Uncle Joe had caught a bad cold in his head and suffered from it for some time. Miss Amanda remained in bed for several days. But it was poor Chet Gormley who paid the dearest price for participation in the exciting incident. Doctor Nugent had hard work fighting off pneumonia.

Mr. Stagg surprised himself by the interest he took in Chet. He closed his store twice each day to call at the Widow Gormley's house.

Mr. Stagg found himself talking with Chet more than he ever had before. The boy was lonely and the man found a spark of interest in his heart for him that he had never previously discovered. He began to probe into his young employee's thoughts, to learn something of his outlook on life; perhaps, even, he got some inkling of Chet's ambition.

That week the ice went entirely out of the cove. Spring was at hand, with its muddy roads, blue skies, sweeter airs, soft rains and a general revivifying feeling.

Aunt Rose declared that Carolyn May began at once to "perk up." Perhaps the cold, long winter had been hard for the child to bear.

One day the little girl had a more than ordinarily hard school task to perform. Everything did not come easy to Carolyn May, by any manner of means, as Aunt Rose would have said. Composition writing was her bane and Miss Minnie had instructed Carolyn May's class to bring in a written exercise the next morning. The little girl wandered over to the churchyard with her slate and pencil—and Prince, of course—to try to achieve the composition.

The windows of the minister's study overlooked this spot and he was sitting at his desk while Carolyn May was laboriously writing the words on her slate (having learned to use a slate), which she expected later to copy into her composition book.

The Rev. Arton Driggs watched her puzzled face and laboring fingers for some moments before calling out of his window to her. Several sheets of sermon paper lay before him on the desk and perhaps he was having almost as hard a time putting on the paper what he desired to say as Carolyn May was having with her writing.

Finally, he came to the window and spoke to her. "Carolyn May," he said, "what are you writing?"

"Oh, Mr. Driggs, is that you?" said the little girl, getting up quickly and coming nearer. "Did you ever have to write a composition?"

"Yes, Carolyn May, I have to write one or two each week." And he sighed.

"Oh, yes! So you do!" the little girl agreed. "You have to write sermons. And that must be a terribly tedious thing to do, for they have to be longer than my composition—a great deal longer."

"So it is a composition that is troubling you," the young minister remarked.

"Yes, sir. I don't know what to write—I really don't. Miss Minnie says for us not to try any flights of fancy. I don't just know what those are. But she says, write what is in us. Now, that don't seem like a composition," added Carolyn May, doubtfully.

"What doesn't?"

"Why, writing what is in us," explained the little girl, staring in a puzzled fashion at her slate, on which she had written several lines. "You see, I have written down all the things that I remember in me."

"If you're sure, let me see it, child," said the minister, quickly reaching down for the slate. When he brought it to a level with his eyes he was amazed by the following:

"In me there is my heart, my liver, my lungs, my verform pendicks, my stomumick, two finger cookies, a piece of peppermint candy and my dinner."

"For pity's sake!" Mr. Driggs shut off this explosion by a sudden cough.

"I guess it isn't much of a composition, Mr. Driggs," Carolyn May said

"Carolyn May," He Said, "What Are You Writing?"

frankly. "But how can you make your inwards be pleasant reading?"

The minister was having no little difficulty in restraining his mirth.

"Go around to the door, Carolyn May, and ask Mrs. Driggs to let you in. Perhaps I can help you in this composition writing."

"Oh, will you, Mr. Driggs?" cried the little girl. "That is awful kind of you."

The clergyman did not seem to mind neglecting his task for the pleasure of helping Carolyn May with hers. He explained quite clearly what Miss Minnie meant by "writing what is in you."

"Oh! It's what you think about a thing yourself—not what other folks think," cried Carolyn May. "Why, I can do that. I thought it was something like those physiology lessons. Then I can write about anything I want to, can't I?"

"I think so," replied the minister.

"I'm awfully obliged to you, Mr. Driggs," the little girl said. "I wish I might do something for you in return."

"Help me with my sermon, perhaps," he asked, smiling.

"I would if I could, Mr. Driggs," Carolyn May was very earnest.

"Well, now, Carolyn May, how would you go about writing a sermon if you had one to write?"

"Oh, Mr. Driggs!" exclaimed the little girl, clasping her hands. "I know just how I'd do it."

"You do? Tell me how, then, my dear," he returned, smiling. "Perhaps you have an inspiration for writing sermons that I have never yet found."

"Why, Mr. Driggs, I'd try to write every word so's to make folks that heard it happier. That's what I'd do. I'd make 'em look up and see the sunshine and the sky—and the mountains, 'way off yonder—so they'd see nothing but bright things and breathe only good air and hear birds sing—Oh, dear me, that—that is the way I'd write a sermon."

The clergyman's face had grown grave as he listened to her, but he kissed her warmly as he thanked her and bade her good-by. When she had gone from the study he read again the text written at the top of the first sheet of sermon paper. It was taken from the book of the prophet Jeremiah.

"To write every word so's to make folks that heard it happier," he murmured as he crumpled the sheet of paper in his hand and dropped it in the waste-basket.

CHAPTER XV.

The Awakening.

With the opening of spring and the close of the sledding season, work had stopped at Adams' camp. Father, the entire plant had been shipped twenty miles deeper into the forest—mill, bunkhouse, cook shed and such corrugated-iron shacks as were worth carting away.

All that was left on the site of the busy camp were huge heaps of sawdust, piles of slabs, discarded timbers and the half-burned bricks into which had been built the portable boiler and engine.

And old Judy Mason. She was not considered worth moving to the new site of the camp. She was bedridden with rheumatism. This was the report Tim, the hackman, had brought in.

The old woman's husband had gone with the outfit to the new camp, for he could not afford to give up his work. Judy had not been so bad when the camp was broken up, but when Tim went over for a load of slabs for summer firewood, he discovered her quite helpless in her bunk and almost starving. The rheumatic attack had become serious.

Amanda Parlow had at once ridden over with Doctor Nugent.

"How brave and helpful it is of Miss Amanda!" Carolyn May cried. "Dear me, when I grow up I hope I can be a graduate nurse like Miss Mandy."

"I reckon that's some spell ahead," chuckled Mr. Parlow, to whom she said this when he picked her up for a drive after taking his daughter to the camp.

"Mr. Parlow," the girl ventured after a time, "don't you think now that Miss Amanda ought to be happy?"

"Happy!" exclaimed the carpenter, startled. "What about, child?"

"Why, about everything. You know, once I asked you about her being happy, and you didn't seem to care. You said 'Bah!'"

The old man made no reply for a minute and Carolyn May had the patience to wait for her suggestion to "sink in." Finally he said:

"I dunno but you're right, Carolyn May. Not that it matters much, I guess, whether a body's happy or not in this world," he added grudgingly.

"Oh, yes, it does, Mr. Parlow! It matters a great deal, I am sure—to us and to other people. If we're not happy inside of us, how can we be cheerful outside, and so make other people happy? And that is what I mean about Miss Amanda."

"What about Mandy?"

"She isn't happy," sighed Carolyn May. "Not really. She's just as good as good can be. She is always doing for folks and helping. But she can't be real happy."

"Why not?" growled Mr. Parlow, his face turned away.

IF YOU CANNOT GET COAL, BURN WATER

Kakabeka Falls near Port William, Ontario

Magog Falls, Sherbrooke, Quebec

Grand Falls, New Brunswick

Are you worrying about coal shortage, Mr. Manufacturer? Does the outlook spell "shutting down" for you? Do not be discouraged. A remedy is at hand; a remedy tried and proved by many manufacturers. Use water power.

Where is this water power, do you ask? Good sites in the United States have been pre-empted pretty generally, you say. Granted, then why not cross the border into Canada and use some of that seventeen million horse-power water power going to waste over there? Why do the Canadians not use it, you ask. They do use some, but not all. Canada has an available water power of almost thirteen million horse-power of which she uses about 10%. This small percentage supplies, with a few exceptions, all the principal Canadian cities and a great majority of its towns and villages, and not a few farms, with hydro-electric energy. Further, this 10% yields a considerable surplus which is exported. New Brunswick's surplus goes to Maine, Quebec's to New York, Ontario's to New York and Minnesota, and British Columbia's to Washington.

The bearing which this exportation of power has upon the imports of coal into the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, the source of two-thirds of the available current, may be surmised. Since the war resulted in a scarcity of vessels for transporting coal up the St. Lawrence for the industries of Montreal, there have been converted to the use of electrical energy in that vicinity, no less than one hundred and fifty private steam plants with a demand of about as many thousand horse-power. Others are considering a like transformation. Hydro power being the one necessary commodity which decreases in cost in proportion to the increase in demand and use, makes it clearly the manufacturing force of the future, and as coal is not at all likely to revert to pre-war prices, many industries supplying the world's markets will take advantage of this fact by locating in Canada where raw materials are plentiful. The vanguard is already there and ready to begin.

Canada is blessed with almost every form of the basic elements of manufacture and the natural powers by which these may be developed. It has lands suited to diversified agriculture sufficient to sustain a greatly increased industrial population. Canada is crossed by great trade routes over which Canadian products travel to far distant markets.

Getting His Measure.

"In that new member a good talker?" "Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "he's a wonder for endurance. But he doesn't class up very well for speed."

HEALTH IS HAPPINESS

Dr. MacKenzie, Specialist, Says:

"It gives me pleasure and elation to disprove a man's word and well. I take pleasure and pride in my work."

"Every week many men come to my office wanting to know if their condition can be cured, saying: 'A FRIEND TOLD ME HE WAS TREATED HERE AFTER SEVERAL SPECIALISTS HAD TREATED WITH WERE UNABLE TO GIVE HIM ANY BENEFIT.'"

Health

Men's Efficiency. Increased Earned Power. Means Long Life. Means Contentment.

Diseases treated by new methods. Relief in week now, where it formerly took months.

STOMACH TROUBLES

Indigestion, stomach, intestinal and liver troubles have always baffled the doctors and specialists over a long number of years. Fasting, dieting, the taking of strong liquid medicines, pills, nauseous concoctions, and even operations, have failed to give permanent relief. The trouble seems to remain and become more chronic as the days pass by. And no wonder. The chief reason is that the whole digestive tract from the tongue down to the rectum, is a series of chemical laboratories. Any useless medicine or drug taken into the stomach has to run the gauntlet of a remarkable series of chemical changes, and anything taken into the stomach is acted upon and undergoes several changes, so that by the time it reaches the spot aimed at it is impossible to predict just what medicinal action it may have. My treatment has been the salvation of hundreds of men, who owe their renewed health, strength and vigor to this remarkable method of healing sick. It is the new—the natural treatment of all stomach and liver complaints. It is the common occurrence for patients to say after one or two treatments: "Why, doctor, I feel as if I had a new stomach. I am enjoying my meals the first time in years. I eat with pleasure and relish all the food set before me. And not only that, I do not experience the least pain, nor do I have that miserable, heavy, bloated feeling afterward. It just seems as if my stomach was made over again."

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism, a disease of all ages, all climates and all races, has challenged the skill of specialists and specialists for generations. Nearly all sufferers have taken the treatment of the ordinary doctor, have tried pills, liquid concoctions, mineral waters, baths of all kinds and descriptions without receiving any permanent benefit. The piercing, sharp-shooting pains, the tender, inflamed and swollen joints still remain to torture them day and night and make life miserable and hardly worth living. RHEUMATISM may be in the back or muscles, usually confined to joints, knees, elbows, wrists, ankles, toes or fingers, swelling or not, pain, aching or stiffness. Call tomorrow if in need of treatment.

"War Time."

A novel memento of the great war is a clock, which is made from munitions—both enemy and allied—collected on the Somme battlefield by a soldier, who afterwards used them for this purpose. The body of the clock is a German shellcase, and German cartridges form the legs. Of the three cartridges on top of the timepiece, the two outside are German, and the one grading the center French, while the two small ornaments between these are Belgian bullets. The side ornaments are made from Verey-light cases, pierced to admit of a British cartridge projecting through the top. The pendulum consists of five French bullets, and the figures and hands are bent to shape from copper wire taken from German trenches. To complete the whole, the clock movement inside is also of German make, and, after necessary repairs, is found to be entirely adequate.

Look to Africa for Food.

The world-wide shortage of food and the certainty that this shortage will continue in modified form for years to come has roused France to utilize more fully her great colonies just across the Mediterranean. Comprehensive plans are being formed—and started on the way to fulfillment—for refrigerating and packing plants in Algeria, so that the animals need not be shipped across the sea alive. These institutions, too, will give a much readier and steadier market than has been available hitherto, and that is probably all that is needed to quadruple the meat exports of North Africa.

Sun Lifts Much Water From Lake.

Evaporation of water from Gatun lake, canal zone, reached a new high record during the month of March, this year, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Calculations show that the sun withdrew 8,248,000,000 cubic feet of water from the body, the equivalent of 1,218 cubic feet a second for the period of 31 days. This was one cubic foot a second in excess of the volume of water passing through the penstocks of the Gatun hydroelectric station, which, during the same month, produced 4,651,000 kilowatt hours of energy. This in turn shows the loss of potential current due to the sun's effect.

Madame Sans-Gene.

In spite of all the nursing and mourning in the city, Paris still retains a touch of gaiety. It is related that a certain lawyer of Paris, whose delight it has always been to make solemn folks laugh, appeared the other day at counsel for a woman charged with some not too grave misdemeanor. She was elderly and plain, and the court was distinctly bored. "Gentlemen," the lawyer exclaimed suddenly, addressing the bench, "gentlemen, you cannot find my client guilty."

"And why not?" asked the presiding magistrate somewhat sharply. "Because," came the smooth reply, "she washes for General Joffre, and it is her glorious privilege at this moment to be weeping into one of his handkerchiefs."

The entire bench of magistrates thereupon gave strict attention to the case. They not only found the washerwoman guilty as charged, but added ten days to her sentence for stealing General Joffre's handkerchief.
